

Dr Janet Szlyk

A Controlled Study of the Use of BiOptic Telescopes by Patients with Macular Degeneration for Driving with Follow-Up

The presentation will describe the results of a controlled laboratory and real-world investigation of the effectiveness of biOptic telescopes for driving and navigation. The outcomes of rehabilitation training and assessments for patients with central vision loss due to either age-related or juvenile-onset macular degeneration will be discussed. Two-year follow-up data also will be presented.