

SZLYK, Ph.D., JANET – Associate Professor and Director of Low Vision Research, Department of Ophthalmology and Visual Sciences, University of Illinois at Chicago College of Medicine; Rehabilitation Research Career Scientist, Department of Veterans Affairs Rehabilitation Research and Development Service, Chicago VA Health Care System, West Side Division. Current research involves the rehabilitation of patients with visual impairment for reading and driving. Ph.D. Degree: Fordham University. Postdoctoral Training in Low Vision (New York Lighthouse) and the Psychophysical and Electrophysiologic Assessment of Inherited Retinal Disease (University of Illinois at Chicago). Dr. Szlyk has published numerous scientific papers on the topic of driving with compromised vision. She has also served as principal investigator on a number of federally funded projects on driving with various eye diseases and the effectiveness of optical enhancement devices for driving.